

PARIS FAIR OPENS TODAY

World's Exposition Was Dedicated with Elaborate Ceremonies.

CARNIVAL OF NATIONS

President Loubet and His Cabinet Lead the Program of Inauguration.

BIG FRENCH CITY FILLED WITH OVER 50,000 VISITORS.

EXPOSITION IS NOT FINISHED

Paris, April 14.—[Special Cablegram]—More than 50,000 visitors have poured into Paris the past forty-eight hours to witness the ceremonies which inaugurate the exposition. The influx is so sudden and so great that the Prefect of Police already begins to foresee difficulty in housing and feeding them all. The exposition authorities are delighted with the throng, and declare that it is the forerunner of the great army of visitors that is to insure the success of the fair.

Americans Salute Loubet. The weather was bright with light clouds, not enough to obscure the sun, but enhancing with light shade the brilliancy of the splendid spectacle. As the president and his brilliantly equipped party passed the American building, the uniformed attendants were drawn up in military order and saluted the president who acknowledged the honor.

A tour of the exposition grounds made late today shows the exact state of the buildings and grounds to be extremely unsatisfactory. The large art palace has not yet been roofed, the central staircase—one of the notable architectural features of the building—is scarcely half finished and no exhibits are ready.

PARIS EXPOSITION

The Paris Exposition originated in a motion of M. Jules Roche, minister of finance, who in July, 1892, proposed the plan to President Carnot. On July 13 of the same year the president issued a decree authorizing a "universal exposition of works of art and of industrial and agricultural products" in 1900. Eight years have been consumed in the preliminary preparations and in the actual construction of the buildings. The total cost of the exposition proper has been $132,000,000. Of this sum the government gave 20,000,000 francs, the City of Paris a like sum and the remainder was raised by an issue of popular bonds. It is estimated that 60,000,000 people will visit the show and that strangers will spend about $20,000,000 in Paris during the time of the exposition. About $10,000,000 has been invested in side shows and amusement enterprises outside the grounds. All the buildings, including the Paris "Midway," occupy an area of 300 acres. Space allotted to the United States, 200,000 square feet. Appropriation of the United States government, $1,210,000. Duration of the exposition, from April 15 to Nov. 3, 1900. Number of regular exhibit buildings, 23. General admission to the grounds will be 1 franc (20 cents) between 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. At other hours the admission will be 2 francs in order to prevent too great crowding.

Not Ready for Six Weeks.

At least six weeks will be required before the exposition is complete in all its details and ready for the enjoyment of visitors. Owing to the almost herculean efforts of Commissioner Fred W. Peck and his colleagues the American exhibit is one of the principal features of the exposition ready for the opening day. As a mark of friendship to the United States, a prominent place has been given to the American flag at the Champs Elysees entrance gate to the exposition.

Program of the Ceremony.

The ceremony of the inauguration of the exposition was held at 2 o'clock in the grand "Salle des Fêtes" in the Machine gallery on the Champ de Mars. President Loubet drove to the hall in his new gala carriage, painted a dark blue striped with red lines. It is ornamented with the arms of the French Republic and was drawn by four horses ridden by postillions with Montmartre, the chief piquier ahead. The footmen and coachmen were in blue livery and wore red, white and blue cockades. The President was accompanied by General Baillood in full uniform and members of the civil and military household, the Ministers and other prominent officials.

President Loubet Presides.

Upon arriving at the hall he was conducted to the Presidential tribune, where he had as guests the members of the Cabinet, the Presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, other prominent functionaries, and the full diplomatic corps in their gorgeous state ceremonial uniforms.

M. Millerand, the Minister of Commerce, made the opening address, at the same time handing over the exposition to the President as representing the people of France. In the course of his discourse Minister Millerand emphasized the triumph of industry and commerce in promoting the peace of Europe and paid a high tribute to the Commissioner General, M. Picard, and his collaborators on the exposition.

Welcomed All Nations.

President Loubet replied, thanking Minister Millerand and expressing for himself and the people appreciation of the great work accomplished as another triumph for France. He welcomed the nations of the world participating in the exposition, and the President then solemnly declared the exposition to be open.

Salute of One Hundred and One Guns. An opening hymn was sung by an immense chorus and a 101 cannon salute was fired from the Tuileries to announce to the public that the inauguration had been accomplished.

Premier Waldeck-Rousseau followed the President in a speech and in the name of the government congratulated France upon the successful achievement of its object after its mighty efforts to produce the exposition.

Crosses Were Awarded.

At the close of the ceremony the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor was conferred upon M. Picard, the Commissioner General.

Delaney-Bellville and Bouvard were made grand officers, Stephen Derville, Grison, Moisant, Chardon, Francois Arago, and Charles Girault were made officers, and Ernest Carnot and fifteen other members of the staff of the exposition were made Chevaliers of the Legion of Honor.

Elaborate Musical Program.

The musical part of the program of the inauguration was extensive. While the dedication was taking place the "Marseillaise" was sung and the "March Solennelle," by Massenet, was played and the hymn sung. After the President's discourse they sang the hymn to Victor Hugo by Saint-Saens, and the final selection was the "Marche Heroique" by Theodore Dubois.

The chorus and orchestra was under the direction of Taffanel.

Republicans and Democrats Are Both Troubled on Second Place.

NUMEROUS ASPIRANTS

Dewey Will Announce His Platform Tuesday and Voices Confidence in Victory.

EXPECTS ENTHUSIASTIC WAVE

Washington, April 14.—All the politicians at Washington are talking about the vice presidency. This is as true of one party as of the other. It is a singular circumstance that both Republicans and Democrats know who their candidate for president is going to be, but neither has the slightest notion who is to be the second man on the ticket. The Republican leaders have stopped considerable discussion as to the advisability of continuing this custom or engaging a high class theatrical company to give a classical play of some kind for the pedagogues. The matter was finally left undecided.

School Board Section Prominent.

It was determined to make the work of the school board section a prominent feature of the coming meeting. Those present at the conference were: W. N. Parker, president, Madison; Miss E. May Schriber, vice president, Madison; Thomas Boyce, secretary, Milwaukee; T. B. Borden, secretary, Marshfield; W. G. Bruce, chairman of the school board section, Milwaukee; E. N. Mitchell, chairman of the local arrangements committee, Milwaukee; Miss Elizabeth R. Wylie, chairman kindergarten section, Madison.

"I am not an anti expansionist nor an anti-imperialist," the admiral said today, "but a sort of middle-of-the-road man on that proposition. I would hold the Philippines as we now are holding Cuba, in trust for the people until such time as they may be prepared to assume independence. This will be a feature of my statement next Tuesday."

Admiral Dewey says he feels encouraged at the reception of his candidacy by the people. He told Representative Levy of New York, who called on him, that he expected the delegates from New York, New Jersey and perhaps other states would go to Kansas City unimpaired, and that they would vote for him and that then a wave of enthusiasm would be started which would take the roof off the convention hall and result in his nomination.

TO HOLD A BANQUET AT THE ARMORY

Members of St. Patrick's Congregation Will Celebrate on April 18th.

The members of St. Patrick's congregation have been making extensive preparations during the last few weeks for their annual banquet to be held at the Armory hall, Wednesday evening, April 18, 1900, beginning at 8 o'clock. And now that the arrangements are complete in every detail, judging from the perfection of their plans and the well known ability of St. Patrick's people to conduct such an undertaking with the greatest possible success, the banquet of 1900 promises to be one of the most elaborate and successful church doings ever given under the auspices of St. Patrick's.

On that occasion a number of toasts will be responded to on subjects of general interest. Several vocal numbers will be rendered by the best local and outside talent procurable. Whilst Smith's full orchestra will play the accompaniments and disperse sweet strains during the evening—thus insuring a program that cannot fail to please. The menu will include the most tempting viands in season, such as roast turkey, chicken, fruit, ice cream and everything else that goes to make up a first class spread and the service will be all that can be desired. Although the banquet may in some respects partake of the nature of a parish gathering yet the members extend a cordial invitation to all the friends to join with them in spending an evening of profit and pleasure after the close of Lent.

EASTER SERVICES AT THE CHURCHES

Unusually Fine Musical Programs and Splendid Floral Decorations.

SACRED EASTER RITES

Storm Gathering in Texas Regarded with Apprehension
by Weather Man.

WHITE FLOWERS TO DECORATE

Local churches have made unusual preparations to properly celebrate Easter Sunday tomorrow. Most of the church auditoriums have been decorated with flowers and plants and extended musical programs are scheduled for the observance of the holy day.

The weather for Easter is likely to be bad, says the weather man. A prediction cannot be made with certainty, he says, as it all depends on a storm now in progress in Texas. This storm is regarded with apprehension. The weather man is watching it closely. Should it grow and start northward as it seems to show indications of doing, Janesville will have a stormy, cold and otherwise unpleasant day tomorrow. If the day should be fine the church attendance promises to be very large.

White Flowers For Decorations.

Church decorations were being arranged today. The Easter lily still holds precedence for the church. Easter, but the white lilac is used also, as are, in fact, all white flowers. Vespers, as a purely musical service, is celebrated on Easter in Protestant as well as in Catholic churches. In many liberal churches afternoon musicales are to be the only recognition of the day aside from that to be found in floral decorations.

The Easter flower that has been most popular this year, even in competition with the lily, is the lilac, which appears in all florist shops in both the white and purple varieties. Old-fashioned fox glove, coxcomb and lady slipper are also shown and for many uses the tiny dew-drop has been bought generously.

There is everywhere a demand for spring things and a tulip is sought more eagerly than the high-priced American beauty roses. Flowers went up in price in anticipation of Easter.

Easter Lily is Popular.

The Easter lily has been the most popular of all flowers the last week because of its symbolism and low price.
Fine examples of the spotted flower three feet from root to bloom can be bought for $1. A florist discussing some of the peculiarities of Easter customers said:

"A dozen people have asked me what is the origin of the term 'Easter lily' as applied to the Harriet lily as we call it in the trade. My opinion is that this flower became an emblem of the Easter season in the pagan days because it was supposed to have sprung a spotless white flower from the milk of Hera, the moon goddess, whose wedding to Zeus occurred annually at this season. The custom of giving presents of colored eggs is yet more ancient, I believe. The Persians observed it and it was regarded by them as symbolic of the vivifying influence of the spring sun.

Novelties in Preparing Flowers.

Most of the flowers bought for Easter are either cut or placed in fancy baskets or jardiniere. A huge egg, the shell of which is birch bark and the contents rich soil is made to do duty as a flower pot and is one of the novelties of this season. From an opening in the "shell" clusters of radiant tulips, violets or other short stemmed flowers protrude and the soil in the egg is plentiful and rich enough to sustain the growth indefinitely.

Real rabbits, stuffed and posing in various positions, more taxidermied than natural also are doing duty as floral standard bearers for fashionable tables. Bunnies generally bears a knapsack or quiver on his back in which any small flowering plants may be set.

To the Editor of The Daily Gazette.

Dear Sir: I sent you a poem last week and asked you to publish it in your paper. You declined and returned it to me with the crushing reply that I was no poet, and that you "could turn out better poetry out of a sausage machine." Now I won't be crushed and I propose to show up your attempt to throttle budding genius. Publish this card and the following poem in your columns and charge me at your advertising rates.

Yours,
JAMES METCALLE RILEY.
The Poem

I stood upon the oceans, sandy beach,
And with a reed wrote upon the sand these
words:
"Agnes, I love thee!"
But the winds came and the waves rolled mountain high.
And blotted out the fair impression.
Crude waves, treacherous sand, fragile reed;
No longer will I trust to thee,
But from the highest mountain peak I'll pluck
the tallest pine,
And, draped in the crater of Vesuvius, with it I write:
Upon the high and burnished heavens these
words:
"A Wise Woman" is drawing the largest audiences ever known,
And giving an entertainment that will take away your breath.
And I would like to see any dog-gone wave
wash that out.

HAPPENINGS ABOUT TOWN

Don't Amount to Much But Some People
Like to Read Them.

Two firms will furnish local residents with ice this season.

Janesville has a physician who finds it not necessary to keep a horse and buggy.

One hundred and forty men in Janesville has joined a club which gives them the privilege of having their clothes pressed and repaired.

Three local weddings are to be performed this spring, the interested parties all being prominent residents here.

Houses to rent are a scarce article in Janesville these days.

A third ward lady paid $25 for an Easter hat which she purchased in Chicago.

Several of the local stores have handsome Easter windows.

One local firm claims to have sold fifty-eight bicycles this year.

There are less than a half dozen vacant stores in the city.

A first ward gentleman recently purchased three incubators.

Women Who have the Blues

Despondency in women

cine will drive them away.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

most delightful one with the exception of two days of rough weather. But few on board were ill. Miss Wilcox and party have been visiting of late in the city of Naples and from there they expect to visit Rome and then travel to the more northern cities. They expect to Alva Russell of this city and Mr.

the corn fields and on the prairie lands about Johnston the farmers report many flocks of wild geese this spring thus affording the hunters excellent sport. On many farms wild geese have been seen feeding through the winter months.

St. Vitus' Dance Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

Mrs. Minnie Fiedler, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, says:

"I was afflicted for years with St. Vitus' dance. The first symptoms of the disease began in 1889, when the nerves began twitching in my left hand. I consulted physicians of this city, but none of them ever did me a particle of good. After I had suffered for two and one half years, the disease continuing to grow worse, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"It was in 1891 that I was induced to try them, and I was surprised at my rapid improvement. I took only two boxes, and was entirely cured. It was hard to realize that I, who for over two years was scarcely able to walk, and who often found it almost impossible to talk, should be restored to perfect health and in full possession of all of my powers by two boxes of this wonderful remedy.

"I am happy to state that my health is still perfect and I have never had the slightest symptoms of a return of the disease, although it is eight years since I was cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of influenza, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., 60 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

(Fourth Lesson.)

THE CHORUS OF PRAISE.

A Grant County Tribute

The Grant County Witness, published at Platteville and edited by M. P. Rindlaub, president of the Wisconsin State Press association, gives Senator Whitehead a strong endorsement, saying:

"Of the names which have been presented to the people of this state for nomination for the office of governor there is none that stands higher in the estimation of the people than that of Senator John M. Whitehead of Janesville. He was born near Hillsboro, Ill., July 29, 1852. He was educated at several colleges, taking the A. B. at Yale. He studied law in Chicago, and was admitted to the bar in 1880. He came to Wisconsin in 1883 and settled at Janesville, where he has since resided. He was elected to the Wisconsin Senate in 1896, and his ambition has been to succeed himself; but at the earnest solicitation of friends throughout the state he has consented to become a candidate for governor.

During his term in the senate his course was such as to challenge the admiration of all who kept in touch with the proceedings of the legislature. He was always found in his place and never shirked a vote. In the trying times incident to the discussion of the pass question, his counsel was followed and his amendments finally prevailed.

Will Head the List

The Whitewater Register has this to say concerning Senator Whitehead:

A good many names have been mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for governor but comparatively few survive. Some of these may sprout and die before the sun goes down; others linger along in a pathetic way but fail to grow or bloom and finally wither out; others show the possession of genuine vitality and will doubtless be alive if not kicking in the political garden when the convention meets next August. Conspicuous among the latter is the candidacy of Senator John M. Whitehead of Janesville, which was announced in the Gazette of that city a few days since. Senator Whitehead's eminent fitness for the position is everywhere admitted. His two winters in the state house showed him to be a high-minded, fearless, practical man of affairs, just the kind to make a governor of the best type. It seems to be conceded that the First district will be solidly for him. We look to see his name head the list at the first roll call.

Nothing To Take Back

The Delavan Enterprise endorses Senator Whitehead for the second time, saying:

There is gratifying enthusiasm by the press and leading politicians over the suggestion made in the Enterprise, naming Hon. J. M. Whitehead of Rock county as a suitable man for governor. On March 23 last, this paper said editorially: "There is another good man over in Rock county, Hon. J. M. Whitehead, of whom it is said no never did a mean thing in his life. He has friends all over the state. As a senator he has shown remarkable talents of statesmanship." We have nothing to take back, but will add that from what we are able to learn, Mr. Whitehead would make an ideal successor to our present executive, Hon. Edward Scofield.

Room Well Under Way

The Lake Mills Leader comments on the Rock County Convention's action as follows:

Last Thursday the Republicans of Rock county held their convention to choose delegates to the State and Congressional conventions, endorsed the administration, Governor Scofield, Congressman Cooper, and were solid for John M. Whitehead for governor. Thus Mr. Whitehead's boom has commenced, and beyond doubt it will be kept pretty warm, especially in this district which he represents in the state senate with so much ability. It is universally admitted that Mr. Whitehead is an able and excellent man, and if that is the kind of man the people are looking for, he will fill the requirements as well as any man whose name has yet been offered for consideration.

Editors All Like Him

The Evansville Review has taken note of Senator Whitehead's strong newspaper support, saying:

J. M. Whitehead, of Janesville, received the hearty endorsement of Rock County Republican Convention, held last week in Janesville, for governor. Mr. Whitehead seems to be getting the endorsements of the press all over the state. Whether or not the press carries influence enough to elect him to this position remains to be seen. As far as we are concerned we hope so.

No Such Word as Fail

The Washburn Times advises the other candidates to keep an eye on the Janesville candidate for governor, because "He is a man who never fails to run like a Whitehead."

The Glenwood Gleaser is supporting

Ira Bradford, but in speaking of Senator Whitehead, says:

There is no doubt that the Janesville candidate will make a strong run. He has the necessary qualifications to make a model governor, and without doubt he will draw heavily from all factional elements in the party.

F. H. Ruger's Letter.

The Superior Evening Telegram gives prominence, on the editorial page, to a letter written to the editor by Frank H. Ruger, formerly of this city, but now of Superior, in support of Senator Whitehead's candidacy.

The Edgerton Reporter, in publishing the resolution adopted by the county convention, says:

Sensor Whitehead has reason to feel gratified at the endorsement given his candidacy for the governorship at the republican county convention last week.

The State Tax Commission has prepared a pamphlet giving hints to the assessors of the state, and copy will be furnished each assessor through the county clerk. There is no question but what the assessors can do something to equalize taxation and if the pamphlet instruct them in any way the commission will have accomplished much.

The silver democracy of Wisconsin emphasizes its invitation to the gold men to return to the wood sawing, by making an organized attack on committeeman E. C. Wall. Mr. Wall isn't rabid enough to suit the silver men, so they propose to "harmonize" by kicking him out—if they can.

Chicago is likely to lose some of her large factories because of labor troubles and Janesville should make an effort to get some of them. Labor troubles are unknown here, and the Bower City has all the other desirable advantages.

FARMERS IN A BIG TRUST.

Production to Be Restricted and Prices Pushed.

COMBINE FOR DOLLAR WHEAT.

Great International Scheme Forming by Which Production Is to Be Restricted and the Price Pushed to a Satisfactory Figure.

Minneapolis, April 14.—All other trusts and combines pale into mere trifles when compared with the trust it is proposed to form among the farmers of the world at the agricultural conference to be held in Paris July 9-16. The farmer has heretofore been held up as the especial sufferer from trusts, but the latter-day farmer reads the papers and by observation finds that a trust may be formed that will benefit him. Consequently the wheat-growing farmer calculates that a trust in his business would enhance prices. In order to make the new combine a success it is necessary to get a majority of the wheat growers into it, and this is to be the object of the conference. It is hoped to arrange to restrict the production, reduce the output by perhaps 20 per cent, and then when the actual number of bushels on hand is closely estimated, to hold the grain until the price reaches a figure determined upon. Dollar wheat is the slogan of the farmer. If the present plans go through it will be impossible to buy any wheat under that figure in the course of two or three years. J. C. Hanley of St. Paul, Minn., executive agent of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial union, the National Cotton Growers' association, the Farmers' Federation of the Mississippi Valley and the National Grain Growers' association, is the chief promoter of the international agricultural trust in America. Prof. G. Ruhland of the University of Fribourg, Switzerland, is the chief promoter of the plan in Europe.

The idea was conceived by these two men independently. Mr. Hanley has been interested in many hold-your-wheat schemes, is prominently associated with the Farmers' Elevator and various co-operative undertakings. He has long believed that if the farmers would only come to an understanding as to limiting production and agree to sell only when their price could be obtained, they would easily master the situation. As a professor of economics Prof. Ruhland has come to the same conclusion. His study of the agrarian problems of different countries led him to believe that the only cure for the widespread troubles of farmers, which are much more severe in the old than in the new world, is to restrict production. Both were hard at work getting the idea into practice when they encountered each other through correspondence. Since then they have been working with a common idea—viz., to persuade the international agricultural congress to endorse the plan and to recommend it to the various national associations present for application next year. While 20 per cent reduction in acreage is desired, Mr. Hanley points out that if only 5 per cent can be secured the world's wheat crop will be reduced about 125,000,000 bushels, which is, he says, enough to bring the price at Liverpool up to $1. To help out the effect of a restricted production the farmers are to hold their wheat for ninety days and are to market it at not less than $1 a bushel. "Almost everything the farmer buys," Mr. Hanley said, "is regulated in price by some trust. On the other hand, all that the farmer sells has its price determined by the competition of all the rest of the farmers of the world. The farmers propose to unite to stop ruinous competition among themselves, and to make the world pay a fair price for their products." Following the Paris conference it is hoped to have established a permanent international grain growers' association.

Shaffner Confers with Gov. Tanner. Springfield, Ill., April 14.—Capt. B. M. Shaffner of Chicago, commander of the naval militia of Illinois, was in Springfield in consultation with Gov. Tanner. The two were closeted together for an hour, but at the conclusion of the conference neither would talk of the matter. At a conference held in this city shortly before the governor's departure for the south, at which the governor, Capt. Shaffner and Adj.-Gen. Reece were present, Shaffner was asked to resign his commission. After the governor's departure Commander Shaffner denied that his resignation had been asked for. Capt. Shaffner stated that his business here was connected with a case in the Supreme court, and he declared the matter of his resignation was not talked of in the conference.

Chinese Land by Thousands.

San Francisco, Cal., April 14.—The Call says that thousands of Chinese are passing the barriers of the custom house and not only are being landed, but are being made native-born citizens of California, each with a vote and qualifications to participate in the political affairs of this city and state. It is asserted that during the last thirty-four months over 10,000 Chinese have been landed, and of these at least 100 a month have been admitted on the ground that they were born in this state, which fact being admitted entitles them to the rights of citizenship. Charges are made that this influx of orientals is only made possible by fraudulent evasions of the restriction act.

"Good-bye Papa."

There were few dry eyes in the court room when the commission returned their verdict of "insanity," and the unfortunate man seemed to realize the gravity of his situation as the heartbroken wife bade him farewell. As the officers started to lead him from the room his little daughter came to him and reaching up put her chubby arms around his neck. Between her convulsive sobs came the pathetic words, "good-bye, papa, I guess I'll never see you anymore."

The mental breakdown which settled as a pall over this once happy family, came after years of concentrated nervous strain and overwork had sapped the brain and nerves of their vitality. How different might have been the ending had that fond father known what Mr. George H. Howard, of Marshall, Ill., knows today. Mr. Howard says: "The first trouble I noticed was inability to sleep followed by general weakness, which continued until I had to be taken to and from my store in a carriage. Finally I had to give up and for five months was confined to the house with an attendant night and day. For seventeen days and nights I never closed my eyes in sleep. I was taken to a private asylum but in a few days they brought me back again to die. A friend brought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve and persuaded me to try it. After taking one-half the contents I began to get some sleep, and when I had used three bottles I was able to return to my store. Had I taken the nerve in the first place I would have been spared months of agonizing torture and an expense of nearly $2,000."

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold at all druggists on a positive guarantee. Write for free advice and booklet to Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Many Novelties In the Way Of Gowns and Hats Which the New Yorkers Think Very Chic.

BY MAUD BAUME ROBINSON.

Gown of green taffeta leaf embroidery over fawn colored silk; trimming of fawn colored crepe de chine. Border shows the new "medallion" applique.

The wise and the foolish are both clustering about the shop windows with this difference—the foolish are buying every Easter novelty in sight, and the wise are content to look on and rather ideas for the remodeling of their last year's gowns. The clever woman does not buy her things at the beginning of the season. She waits for the fashions to calm down a bit.

There is need of such caution this year, for the styles have never been more extravagant.

This is very noticeable, for instance, in the long cloaks. They are made of pean de sole, of satin, of taffeta embroidered over net, of black lace, and some are even spangled. If they fasten merely with long ends of velvet ribbon instead of chiffon scarfs, the ribbon is often ornamented with rows of white silk stitching.

Moreover, in spite of the fact that many are so overtimed as to appear grotesque, one point has been gained; the ugly loose back has disappeared.

It seems to be the proper thing this year, either to wear an infinitesimal jacket composed of tucks and embroidery or to be swathed from head to foot in a mass of clinging silk and chiffon ruffling. Even the tailor made suits are mere compromises. Many of the shops display jackets and skirts of taffeta richly embroidered.

The other day I saw a very striking costume on a girl who was riding down Fifth avenue. The hat, the parasol and the three-quarter length coat were all of the same material, silvery gray taffeta embroidered over a rather deep shade of emerald pean de sole. The hat was a mass of soft folds worn off the

THIRST ON THE VELDT.

Terrible Sufferings of British Soldiers In South Africa.

GRAPHIC VIEW OF WAR'S HORRORS.

Wounded Soldier's Pitiabie Efforts to Drag Himself to a Stream, but a Boer Bullet Ends His Sufferings.
Soldiers Drink Water Which the Horses Shrink From.

A correspondent of the London Morning Post says that, although the British soldier "has thirsted in the thirstiest corners of the globe," he finds the South African veldt to be a fresh experience. The letter continues:

"Aden, India, Egypt, the Sudan—but here is something not hotter, not drier, not dustier, but less endurable for some reason. It is the army and South Africa together no doubt which are the causes, for men who have lived in Kimberley, Johannesburg, Bloemfontein and Natal are only now while campaigning acquiring the experience—the army with its incessant tramping and the ceaseless fog of dust that hangs about its camps. And to that must be added the compulsory life in the sun, the sun at its hottest and driest hours, the entire absence of shade, the parching suction of the sand, which is bad, chair and table.

"At Randam there is a big pond—what was left of moisture in the dam. One bathed in it only under the most pressing compulsion of cleanliness. The water was very shallow, but the mud was black and deep. One sank to the knees if one tried to walk, and so sat gently half in mud and half in brown slush and thanked God for water. One rose from it with the green leeches hanging about one's body like bits of seaweed and with a sprinkling of other less known insects.

"Horses looked askance at that pool, but the men drank of it greedily and drank of it where alone they could reach it, where the horses' hoofs had churned it into a blackish green liquor thick as soup. Let every one who turns today a water tap in England give a thought to those who are dipping buckets in South Africa and be grateful for an exceeding privilege."

Here is a vignette from the field of battle: "Twenty yards to the left a man is lying pressed flat against the ground. He is very much the ground color, and the occasional whiffs over him have aided the disguise. There are little tufts of withered scrub which help to hide him, though but a few inches high. The sun has been blazing on his back and the sand about him for seven hours, and the veldt wavers confusedly in the glare of the heat. A pale blue lake of mirage has formed about the farthest kopjes and left them like a dark island in the sky."

"The man on the left feels gingerly for the tin bottle which lies under his left elbow, his fingers spread over its felt covering, and gives it a gentle shake. The shake is repeated, and he begins to draw the bottle slowly under him, keeping his body rigidly stiff. The job is a long one, because the bottle strap catches in his accoutrements, and he dare not move to free it. When he has it at last beneath him, he begins to turn over as slowly as he has done all else. He lifts his foot a few inches to balance himself, and the next instant there is a spilt of dust from the sand beside him, not much more than an arm's length away. He keeps his eyes on the mark the bullet has made and remains for some moments as if it had turned him to stone; then, with a more laborious patience, he resumes his movement till at last he is on his back and has the bottle above him. It holds only a few hot drops, but he thought he had drained even them an hour ago, and his tongue is like a piece of fur in his mouth."

"He got with a rush to the place he occupies about 8 o'clock in the morning, when a sudden crackle from the river in front of him laid the whole line on its face, where it has remained, with occasional wriggling forward, ever since. He is on the right of his company and alone, for the man next him, after chaffing the Boer shooting for half an hour, began suddenly to whimper and has been still ever since. He talked himself to take the bullets humorously but he grew used to them till one came between his face and the ground and struck his belt buckle. Then he cursed them and was afraid till he lost all other feelings in the awful sense of thirst."

"He knows the action is going on still, for he can hear the steady pounding of a battery from the hill behind him, and suddenly snarls of rifle fire beyond the river to the left. He knows, too, from those hateful spits of dust that the Boer is still behind the bushes in front of him, but the Boer is always behind something, and he is tired of trying to shoot and being shot at by a man whom he has never seen. Besides, if he lifts his rifle, the dust begins to jump again, and the rifle barrel is scalding hot, the varnish is sizzling on the stock, as though it stood before a fire, and to touch it seems to quicken his unbearable thirst."

"He tries to guess at the hour as the sun goes over and falls on his left side. He writes words in the sand with his fingers and rubs them out, bewilders an ant which runs with its bundle of food in front of him, does anything he can to keep from thinking of the maddening drought within him. What he really thinks of God knows."

"I lay there hasting them Boers so long as I can remember," said one who had lost consciousness after eight hours of that kind of fighting, and his attitude was probably characteristic. But cursing is not cool work and dries a man already droughty, while still the crackle of fire comes from the river, and death stands before a drink. At last, while there are still some three hours of daylight, the patter of rifles along the douglas on the farther bank grows more and more hurried till it runs into a continuous roll. A last determined, disastrous attempt is being made to push back the enemy's right. The Senforths, Cornwalls and Canadians, mixed together, are clambering, leaping, blundering forward across the deep, intricate channels of the douglas beds.

"But the man on the other side of the river only knows of what is going forward by the swell and spread of the fire. Five minutes and it has sunk again to the snarl, snarl of solitary rifles. What has happened, whose are the bodies in those pits of death, where is the enemy and where the friend he has not the least idea. If things have gone well, there will be fresh orders probably, but no orders come."

"At 6 o'clock he has been 12 hours under fire. His last meal was a biscuit, 15 hours back, when he had fallen in at 3 in the morning, after marching all the day before. But he is aware neither of weariness nor of hunger in the fever of his thirst. The flesh of his face, stained walnut brown by the sun, has a dry, twisted look, like the parched stem of the scrub, as though all the moisture had been wrung from it. One grows to know that look out here. His fingers never leave his water bottle nor his eyes the green fringe of bush along the river. Another hour and the guns about him cease firing, and a new fight seems to be beginning far away on the right. The sun is going down, and he can see nothing to the left of him but a hot, gold glare of dust."

"Then out of it a man leaps and makes a sharp dash toward the river. There is a sharp ring of an order to stop him and almost with it the quick stammer of a dozen shots, and the man swings around and pitches forward on his back. The battle grows louder on the right. A howitzer battery has come into action. Brownish puffs of lyddite are bursting along the kopje. But the man lying in the scrub pays no heed to it."

"His arms are spread out flat, his fingers dug into the sand. He is pulling himself slowly forward, his eyes glaring ahead through the scrub. When a bullet strikes near him, he stops a moment, but goes on again. So, in half an hour he covers about 50 yards. He can see the cool hollow of the river. But there is only brown grass along its banks, and his one chance lies in a dash. He is on all fours for a spring, but he gets no further. A rifle has been following the faint trail of dust above him, and he sinks down in a lump with a bullet through his head."

PLENTY OF IT.

Lots More Proof Like This,
and it is All From Janesville People.

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it." If any city or town in the Union has sufficient proof on the following subject it is Janesville. Genuine merit is finding its reward in the hearty endorsement of local citizens. When you are right here at home, friends and neighbors of our readers, give a statement like the following for publication, it is a good convincing for the most skeptical. Read this testimony:

Mrs. L. B. Corbitt, of 107 Cornelia street, says: "I doctored from time to time for eight or ten years for kidney complaint. I took fairly well as long as I took medicines, but if I left off I immediately became worse. At one time I had such a severe attack that I came near dying. The pain became so severe that it brought on nervous chills, my finger nails turned purple and I never suffered so much in my life. The medicine I took acted as a stimulant while I used it, and I finally recovered in a measure. During three years I suffered from attacks of headache, dizziness and backache. It was for these reasons, that on learning about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured them from the people's drug store. They are a splendid remedy. The pain in the region of my kidneys was removed in a short time and since completing the treatment I have felt better generally."

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSON, VA., Dec. 31.
I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught have done more for me than anything else.

MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

WINE OF CARDUI

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the female organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps to away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth. recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

A Smokeless Blue Flame

This invention embodies in a large measure the principle of the Evaporating Gasoline Burner. The oil dripping into a tube leading to an open ring at the bottom of the burner cylinder, when ignited burns up between the two perforated chimneys, becoming so impregnated with air as to produce a Smokeless Blue Flame similar to that from a gasoline burner. No complicated mechanism is involved in its construction; it is as easily operated and as easily comprehended as an ordinary lamp. A child five years old can use it—no danger; cannot explode.
